Art Unit: 1792

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 22, 24-29 and 32-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claims 22, 24-29 and 32-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for application device for application of at least two liquid application to a moving surface which is a surface of a material web, does not reasonably provide enablement for application device for application of at least two liquid application to a moving surface which is a transfer element which transfers the application media to the surface of the material web. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make/use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The originally filed specification is not enabling as to the positioning of the transfer element relative to the collecting device, discharge device and separating element.

Claims 22, 24-29 and 32-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 22, claim 28 and claim 29 are confusing since it is unclear what the application device is comprised of. It is suggested that applicant at line 6 of claims 22, 28 and 29 after "the material web, the device" insert – further --. Claim 22 is confusing due to a grammatical error. It is suggested at line 10 of claim 22 after "a discharge plate at the end" delete "of which there" and insert – thereof which --.
